Project Identity

Educational blockchain reference project • Non-financial • No token sale • No fundraising • No investment claims

Project Identity

Quazenthor (QWBQ) is a transparent, educational BEP-20 reference token deployed on the BNB Smart Chain mainnet. The project is initiated by the founder with support from independent contributors focused on documentation, technical review, and website maintenance.

The project has no commercial structure, no legal entity, and no financial operations. It serves solely as a public, immutable reference for studying standard token mechanics in a live blockchain environment.

Founder & Contributors

Founder: toora dokht – Project initiator, contract deployer, and coordinator of all educational materials.

Independent contributors provide operational support in the following areas:

- btmb ani – Documentation & Project Structure Coordination
- so stbt – Community Communication & Clarity Support
- amob animo – Technical Review & Reference Materials
- mekro deo – Website Maintenance & Accessibility

No contributor has control over the smart contract, token supply, or on-chain operations. All activities are aligned with the project's educational focus.

Purpose and Educational Role

Quazenthor provides a minimal, fixed-supply BEP-20 contract for educational purposes, enabling observation of:

- Real gas consumption
- Event emission and logging
- Approval and allowance mechanisms
- Holder distribution changes
- Immutable contract behavior

Tokens are distributed manually upon request for educational interaction only.

Ownership and On-Chain Transparency

Contract ownership remains with the deployer to preserve reference stability.

Deployer Address:

0x0daeb75bf06b879164d0753fa9d695763fcd1f49

Contract Address:

All balances, transfers, and events are publicly visible on-chain.

Risk Disclosure

Blockchain interactions involve risks such as smart contract issues, network conditions, user errors, and potential permanent fund loss. This project assumes no responsibility or liability for any actions, losses, or decisions.

The token is not a security, financial instrument, or investment product. No content constitutes financial, investment, or legal advice.
